Suzuki seeks talks with minister

VOL. VI NO. 181

By Farouk Luqman

JEDDAH, May 27 — Top ranking officials of the Suzuki Motor Company of Japan have requested an appointment with Commerce Minister Dr. Solimao Solaim in Riyadh to explain their viewpoint and to apologize for any offense that might have been caused by an advertisement for company cars in Germany. They will also hold a press conference in Tokyo Thursday for the same purpose.

Sheikh Hassan Bamaroof, the Managing Director of the firm which owns the Suzuki agency in the Kingdom. told Arab News Wednesday that the request for the appointment has been communicated to the Saudi Arabian embassy in Tokyo. The company has also sent a team of top level aides to the emhassy to talks to the Commercial Attache and apologize for the offense.

The advertisement, which appeared in Stern magazine of Germaoy last month and was reprinted by Arab News earlier this week, sought to portray the Arabs as greedy oil sellers who did not care much for the wellbeing of the consumer. It showed-a man impersonaring an Arab kicking a small Suzuki car because it consumed very little oil and therefore, brought only a paltry profit to the oil

The advertisement caused widespread consternation in the Arab world, Suzuki has disowned the advertisement and instructed its agent in Germany to publish full page advertisements of apology in the magazines which had carried the offending ad.

Bamaroof said the management in Japan has been in touch with him several times a day to make it clear that the parent company had nothing to do with the advertisement and were as offended by it as the Arahs themselves, for whom they have the highest regard.

The agents here have let the Japaoese know in so many words that they were deeply displeased with the conteot of the advertisement, which offended a considerable section of the company's clientele in the world. In a series of telex and telephone messages they conveyed to the company the feeling of the

Dutch parties may adopt tough stand THE HAGUE, May 27 (Agencies) -

Dutch parties Wednesday prepared for hard bargaining to form a new government after the center-right coalition of Andries Van Agt lost its majority in Tuesday's parliamentary elections. After tactical talks within their own parties, party leaders will confer with Queen Beatrix, who will either choose which politician should have a mandate to form a government, or appoint an intermediary known here as an "informateur" - to examine the choices she might make.

A government spokesman said that in view of the party meetings Wedoesday and the nacional holiday Thursday, party leaders would see the Queen Friday. Van Agt's gov-ernment will stay on as caretaker until its successor is formed. The Christian Democrat leader said Tuesday night that talks to form a new cabinet could be difficult and an informateur might be needed to probe the coalitico options.

The government lost three seats in the elections, surrendering its slender majority of two. Van Agt immediately sought to expand bis coalition with the liberals by attracting the left-of-center Democrats '66, as the party is koown. The Democrats were the major winners Tuesday, more than doubling their representation in the 150-seat lower bouse of parliament from eight to 17.

Policical analysts said coalicon talks were expected to focus on attempts to form a government with broad support from the Christ-ian Democrats, Democrats and the Labor Party. Democrat leader Jan Terlouw, who could bave a key role in the internal party wrangling, stressed that this three-party option remained his party's aim.

Wednesday's major Dutch papers of all political complexions were virtually unanimous in supporting Terlouw's goal. They said it was the most ohvious or only real opoon, while ooting that various policy conflicts would have to be resolved.

The opposition Labor Party suffered the worst losses, according to final unofficial returns, ruling out an all-leftist government. But under the Dutch system of negotiating a coalition after the election, Labor could still join the government and prevent deployment of new NATO nuclear missiles oo Dutch soil, a major election issue. The Christian Democrats and the Liberals, the conservative partner in the present coalitioo, slipped to a total of 74 seats in the 150-seat lower chamber of parliament, two seats sbort of a majority.

The outcome signaled a long and difficult period of negotiations, expected to begin with the Queen. The talks took nearly seven mooths after the last election to 1977. Democrats '66, often compared to the new Social Democrats in Britain, was the higgest winner.

Second round soon

Habib recalled as mission fails

President Ronald Reagan Wednesday summoned home his special Mideast Ambassador Philip Habib as reports circulated in Israel that Hahih had failed in efforts to persuade Syria to withdraw its anti-aircraft missiles from eastern Lebanon.

But Reagan told reporters he did not consider Hahib's mission a failure and said another trip is in the works. Indeed the president called the mission "a remarkable job" in that open warfare did not hreak out between Syria and Israel during Habib's three-week shuttle trip. Those two nations, he said, were on the verge of war and that has not bappened."

Deputy White House Press Secretary Larry Speakes said Habib would return Thursday and meet with Reagan that day or the next "about the progress and future of his mission in the Mideast."

Reagan, speaking to reporters as he left for a speech to the graduating class at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, said Habib would be returning to the Mideast in bopes of defusing the Lebanese crisis.

"There's a kind of a pause, where everyone considers where they are. We felt that it was necessary now for him to come back here to see us and then go hack.

In Moscow, the Soviet Union Wednesday pledged continued support for Syria's role in Lehanon and urged Arab states to concentrate their efforts on convening an international conference on the Middle East, The pledge of support for Syrian President Hafez Assad in his confrontation with Israel came in an official report by the Soviet News Agency Tass after talks between King Hussein of Jordan and President Leooid Brezhnev. (Related Story on Page 4).

In Tel Aviv, Habib, reading a statement to reporters before his departure from Beo Gurion airport said be would return to the region to continue his conciliation mission next week. Talks with Reagan would be preparatory to my continuing my mission in the region," be said. He was convinced, be said, that 'all parties involved wish to avoid hostilines" - a conviction he based on his talks with leaders of several countries io the regioo. 'Continued restraint by all parties of course remains essential to the achievement of a peaceful resolution of the crisis," he said.

"It will be obvious from what I have said that diplomatic efforts to defuse the tension in the area and to bring about a peaceful solution of the problems will continue," the special envoy said. He refused to answer any questions.

Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin said Wednesday that Syria had carried out maneuvers, called up tens of thousands of reservists and strengthened its missile system in the past 24 hours. Begin, speaking after a meeting with Hahib, added that in his opinioo the situation over Lehaoon had deteriorated.

Begin said Tuesday that the American peace mission was unsuccessful but did not rule out an eventual diplomatic solution. "It is the common opinion of all participants (in the talks) that the diplomatic endeavor will continue hut so far it did not bear any fruit." Begin told reporters after a 45-minute meeting with Habib. This did not mean that" they have lost hope and that in future it will bring positive results," he added.

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir and U.S. ambassador Samuet Lewis were also present

Begin alleged that Syria had not cootributed to the diplomatic efforts and has said that "under no circumstances will they move their missiles." Asked if there had been a deterioration in the crisis. Begin said that there had been no essential change in the

Begin told a public meeting Tuesday that relations between Israel and the United States had oever been closer and that the two countries were now practically in an alliance. "Israel was no longer isolated in its interna-tional relations," be added. "And I have some more news for you" he added. "Our relations with the United States have oever been better and we are now practically in an alliance "

He quoted Reagan as saying Sunday thatthe relations between the two countries amounted to an alliance and that the United States regarded Israel as a primary power in the Middle East preventing the incursion of communism into the area.

He said that there would "continue to be differences of approach on some questions but we will discuss them as good friends."

Begin said that the election of Francois Mitterand to the Freoch presideocy would bring "a welcome change in France's pro-Arab policies and a return to its traditional close ties with Israel."

In Damascus, Palestine Liberatioo Organization Chairman Yasser Arafat had talks bere Wednesday with Syrian President Hafez Assad on the Middle East situation, the Syrian News Agency Sana said.

Reacting to the recall of Habib Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzao said "I don't want to speculate on the effects of Habib's summons." "But I want to stress that we in Lebanoo should oot wait for Habib's mission to set out on settling our problems and ensuring our interests. We should rely first oo ourselves and theo oo our Arab brothers."

Wazzan's statement was the first official reaction in the Arab world to Reagan's decision to summon Habih to a face-to-face meeting in Washington to bear "about the progress and future of bis mission in the Mideast."

Habib met Wazzan twice in the last three

Meanwhile, Syria's governmeotcontrolled media reiterated Wednesday that President Hafez Assad's government refused to oegotiate its right to deploy anti-aircraft missiles in Lebanon and expected ao Israeli attack any time. Newspapers were commenting on Begin's statement Tuesday that he did not lose patience. "Begin can wait as long as he pleases, the American emissary can also wait in the area as long as be likes, but Israel and the United States know that Syria would not negotiate on an issue that concerns its national security," said the Damascus newspaper Al -Baath. It speaks for Syria's ruling Socialist Baath Party. "Begin's threats, although carrying an election campaign mentality, are taken bere very seriously. Damascus expects aggression any time and was prepared to foil it and hit back at Begin where be does not expect,"

Al -Baath said. "We are determined to strike at the entire American scheme io the area:"

This appeared to be a reference to the U.S.-sponsored Camp David process under which Egypt and Israel signed a separate peace treaty in 1979. Syria, which has a treaty of friendship and cooperation with the Soviet Union, leads the Arab World's hardline opposition to the Camp David accords.

SALONICA, Northern Greece, May 27 (AFP) — A home-made bomb destroyed the British Council's City Center premises bere during the night, police said Wednesday. Responsibility for the hlast was not immediately elaimed, but police speculated it may have been caused by sympathizers of the provisional IRA (Irish Republican Army) fighting the British military presence in Northern Ireland.

What will be the situation of the world's conomy if all the banks turned Islamic? The International Union of Islamic Banks finds an answer in a book captioned "100 Quesdons, 100 Answers'. It says that while it is difficult to draw a picture of the world at that time, the matter can be easily thought of in view of the fact that interest has been wiped out and replaced by a principle of participation in the bank's activities.

When the state needs funds, it resorts to taxes or looks for some financing resources through participation. The establishment of a central bank cannot be thought of with an irrational or unproductive participation, exactly as one cannot imagine the participation of banks with the central bank in an unproductive expenditure.

There are, bowever, some norms and rules that prevent the existence of the causes of inflation, such as increase in public debt and the quantity of cash flow as well as irranonal expenditure. At the same time, the increased government expenditure might be ascribed to an increase in the job opportunides and social services, such as employment insurance and social insurance.

At this point, one can realize the significance of Islamic economic system, since the principle of participation in financing provides bigger opportunities for work and the employment of resources for the good of the society. Under the Islamic system, the principle of Zakat (charity) alone can cope with all the social problems of the Islamic society.

The Islamic economic system provides the best safeguard against inflation, unemployment, exploitation and poverty. When the idea of Islamic banking, is put into real practice is yet to be seen.

Philippine delegation to counter Misuari bid

JEDDAH, May 27 — The Philippines government is sending a delegadon to Baghdad to be present during the 12th Islamie Conference of Foreign Ministers. The group will request the right of reply if Nur Misuari, the leader of the Moro National Liberation Front addresses the Conference. No invitation bas yet been addressed to the delegation which will go on its own.

The delegation should be in Baghdad to make itself available to its Muslim brothers, the head of the delegation, Al-Haj Ulbert Ulama Tugung, told Arab News during a reception at Sheraton Hotel here Tuesday.

He is the chairman of the executive council of the autonomous government of region nine in the South where Nnr Misuari claims that the autonomy is a mockery and that the Tripoli Agreement regulating the issue has not been applied. Says Tugung, "What Mis-uari is doing is merely news distortion. The Tripoli Agreement has been applied."

The 13 provinces in the South have become an autonomous area and President Marcos even offered the headship of the regional government to Misuari. But Misuari did not reply since, apparently, he does not want to participate, Tugung said. He and his men are living permanently ahroad and this led to the holding of a referendum on the provinces, asking the people if they want one autonomous region or two separate ones, be added. The referendum beld on April 7, 1977, resulted in two autonomous regions being created — region nine ruled by Tungung and regioo 12 ruled by Semeon Datumanong, having five provinces each, plus Palawan, South Cotabato and Davao del Sur which opted not to be within the antonomous reg-

On Mideast conference

lussein backs Soviet proposal

Hussein of Jordan ended two days of talks with Soviet leaders Wednesday and joined them in a new call for a Middle East peace conference, the Soviet News Agency Tass reported.

East." Tass said.

Both Jordan and the Soviet Union have called previously for a Mideast peace conference. Brezhnev renewed Soviet support for such a conference, in which Moscow would presumably be represented, in a speech earlier this month in Tbilisi, Soviet Georgia. Tass said Brezhnev and Hussein found their opinion coincided" in many respects" during their "useful" talks, but the report did not indicate the areas of disagreement. Both sides expressed willingess to "further strengthen and expand Sovict-Jordanian cooperation in the international arena" according to the report.

The report added, indiscussing the crisis in Lehanon, that "the USSR will continue firmly supporting Syria in its oppositon to

Bangladesh seeks island talks with India

DACCA, May 27 (AP) - Bangladesh issued a white paper Tuesday claiming the disputed island of Talpatti in the Hariabhanga River estuary whose midpoint forms the Bangladesh-India border.

India, too, claimed the island, which is not fit for habitation, and sent troops there May 9, touching off the dispute. The white paper said all available facts and circumstances suggest that the island belonged to Bangladesh. It asked India to settle the issue through negotiations and a joint survey of the island.

Meantime, the government party submitted a resolution in parliament to express deep concern over what it called "forcible occupation of the island' by Indian troops spearheaded by two naval vessels. The resolution, proposed after walkout by opposition and independent members, also called for the unconditional withdrawal of the Indian troops from the islad.

They walked out after a fixed time of two hours for discussion of the subject was over and their demand for more time for deliberation of what they called a "crucial issue" was ignored by the ruling party.

Iraq signs pact with W.Germany

BONN, May 27 (R) - The West German foreign minister and Iraq's First Deputy Premier Taha Yassin Ramadan held wideranging talks Tuesday night after signing a treaty covering economic, scientific and technical cooperation.

At a reception accompanying the treaty signing ceremony Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher said the accord opened new perspectives for an intensification of West German-Iraqi relations. It foresaw German promotion of Iraq's economic development, especially through job training support and technological transfer, as well as by the creation of a high-level joint economic commission, he said.

Earlier, Ramadan and his delegation discussed questions concerning the expansion of economic relations with more than 150 representatives of West German industry in the German industrial federation headquarters in Cologne.

Federation president Dr. Hans-Guenther Sohl praised the economic ties which he said had made Iraq the most important partner of West German industry in the Middle East, Pentagon says

Russia increases naval fleet in Mediterraneau

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — The Soviet Union has increased the number of its naval ships in the Mediterranean but"there is no unusual pattern of their movements that we know of," Pentagon spokesman Henry Catto said Tuesday.

"There has been an increase in the number of Soviet vessels but it is not out of the normal range" of fleet strength maintained by the Russians in the Mediterranean, Catto told a briefing. He said the Soviet Mediterranean fleet numbers 39 ships. Last week, he spoke of the Russian fleet totaling some 30 ships of various kinds in those waters. Other sources said that some of the increase in Soviet naval strength was accounted for by the appearance of a three-ship naval force in the Mediterranean enroute from a visit to Cuba. Ir is not known, sources said, whether this force, including a guided missile cruiser and two guided missiles destroyers, will stay in the Mediterranean or continue on to the Black Sea, as is the usual practise for such a force after a distant deployment.

Meanwhile, sources who declined to be identified said that the 18,000-ton Soviet helicopter carrier Moskva has left waters off Lebanon and now is making a port call in Yugoslavia. The Moskva's presence off Lebanon caught some Western attention because of the still unresolved crisis between Israel and Syria over the presence of Syrian anti-aircraft missiles in Lebanon.

However, few American naval experts had indicated any deep concern about the Moskva 's military significance off Lebanon because the ship, its 18 helicopters and weapons are designed primarily for fighting submarines, not for aerial warfare or ground

In line with the new administration's policy, Catto refused to say how many American warships are in the Mediterranean. The total is around 32, according to other sources. Catto did say that the 76,000-ton aircraft carrier independenne is remaining in the eastern Mediterranean temporarily, accompanied by a guided missile destroyer and guided missile cruiser. The Independence hattle group will be "going home" to Norfolk, after a tour in the Indian Ocean, but "its return is being delayed," Catto said.

PERSONAL PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PERSON OF THE PER

OIL PRICE FREEZE

It is well known that for the past few months the international oil market has been very much a buyers' market. Crude oil is in a plentiful supply, exceeding demand by at least 1.5 million barrels per day. The industrial countries, only a while ago buying any available oil, no longer go out of their way to contact the seller. It is the latter who is shopping around for customers at present.

The market had been going in the producers' way in such a manner that some of them had been adding a surcharge above the official OPEC price. The surcharges have all but disappeared by now, as those producers strive to keep their sales up in order to meet their development expenditures.

It is not necessary to specify the countries concerned. although one could say they constituted a majority among the OPEC members. One can also say that the state of the market allowed such practices in the past, and that these led directly to the results of the OPEC Geneva meeting, at which Saudi Arabia's view ultimately prevailed.

Saudi Arabia's constant demand has always been for a coherent OPEC pricing policy taking into account the situation on the world market, and not merely in the context of the short term: OPEC has to realize that it is in its interests to discourage the consumer nations from switching to other sources of energy, as they surely would be driven to do if the chaos in prices remains.

In any case, and for the present, the agreement to freeze prices and restrict production as determined by the Geneva meeting will bring supply and demand back to something approaching parity, stabilizing the market for the benefit of both producer and consumer.

Turkish extremists in W. Germany

Mehmet Ali Agca, the Pope 's would -be assassin, is thought to be a member of the 'Grey Wolves' 'a fanatical Turkish sect in West Germany. Siegfried Buschschluter looks at the extremism among that country 's Turkish population. By Siegfried Buschschluter

FRANKFURT -West Germany has a Turkish population of some 1.5 million people. Most of them are law-abiding and hard-working, but few mix with their German neighbors. In West Berlin, out of a total population of two million some 200,000 are foreign, and of these nearly 100,000 are Turks. One in three live in one district alone, Kreuzberg, "It's like Anatolia," said a taxi driver. "You would have a job finding any Germans bere." These are the ghetto Turks of Berlin, living a derelict housing and rundown neighborhoods.

Tiergarten is another district of Berlin with a large Turkish contingent. The Sunday morning flea market draws large numbers of mustachioed men in dark suits and cloth caps, while the second generation of Turkish guest workers play foothall in the warm spring sunshine, seemingly oblivious to the harsh poliocal reality of the wall that divides East and West - just a stone's throw away - and what Germans call ueberfremdung excessive foreign infl-

The acting West Berlin Mayor, Hans-Jochen Vogel, recently called it a time-bomh. It was much more serious than the problem of squarting, be said. One of the most worrying aspects was the degree of control from abroad. "If you can get 50,000 people on the streets protesting for some right-wing ideology, it must be controlled from home", he said.

And the problem seems to be getting worse. Last June, the Federal Office for the Protection of the Consolution (counter-intelligence) warned that Turkish extremism in West Germany represented a grave threat to internal security. Polarization, a growing trend toward violence, a continuous rise in membership of both right-wing and left-wing groups, and a difficult national character formed a highly-explosive mixture, the office said in a report.

Agitation by right-wing nationalists - directed mainly at Communists - was becoming increasingly aggressive, the report said. A pamphlet depicted a howling wolf as "the Turkish national symbol," a reference to the legendary beast that led Turkish tribes from the famine-stricken steppes of Central Asia to a new home in Asia Minor.

Today's Grey Wolves have been described by the State Secretary in the Bonn Interior Ministry, Andreas von Schoeler, as "a synonym for a nationalist, and extreme right-wing frame of mind." The socalled Turkish Federations were of the same extreme right-wing complexion, he said.
Nearly 60,000 Turks (12 percent of the Turkish working populations) are classified by the authorities as extremist. According to the authorities 29,000 leftist extremists are confronting some 26,000 right-wing activists. Both use force to further their aims. In 1979 and in the first months of last year, violent clashes between Turkish extremists in West Germany claimed the lives of four persons.

It is a worrying problem for the authorities but no one seems to bave found a solution. The Turkish cultural centers or Turkish Federations are tightly organized and apparently well-heeled. When Frankfurt police raided the cultural center in Gutleustrse 1/3 last autumil, they lound that "hundreds of thousands of marks" were credited to the organization in its books. An MHP defector said that between 20 and 25 million Turkish lira were transferred to Turkey every year to support MHP at home.

Ulm is another center of right-wing Turks in Germany. Ulm's Mayor, Hans Lorenser, denied that Mehmet Ali Agca had lived in the city under his own name. He was never registered there, he said. But he would not rule out that Agea had found refuge among sympathetic Turks without registering. "We have had our problems with the Grey Wolves," Lorenser said. "There is a very strong extreme right-wing faction in Ulm."

On Nov. 25 last year, the Turkish owner of a grocery store in Kempten near Lake Constance was shot dead by an unknown assailant. Before he died. he told police that the gunman had asked him whether he knew Mehmet Ali Agca. When he said no, he was shot at point blank range. A few days later, leaflets appeared in Aschaffenburg near Frankfurt calling for Agea's death.

Oersan Oymen, columnist of the liberal Turkish newspaper Milliyet said on television that the paper had received a letter from Agea announcing his attack on the Pope. Oymen, who works in the foreign languages service of West German Radio (WDR) in Cologne, has received several anonymous threatening letters and telephone calls. In May 1979, some 6,000 Turks marched through Cologne calling for an end to WDR's "one-sided" reporting and shouted "Communists out."

Agea is reported to have surfaced in Berlin, Ulm, Frankfurt, and Bad Wurzach, Baden-Wuerttemberg. He applied for renewal of a forged passport at the Turkish Consulate-General in Frankfurt but disappeared when Frankfurt police alerted by the consulte - started looking for him. Two weeks ago, the German authorities said they had done everything to trace him, but without success. They rejected charges by Turkish left-wingers that they had turned a blind eye to Agoa's activities.

Nuclear row threatens Japanese government

By Donald Kirk

The government of Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki will probably fall if it fails to hluff out questions over the use of Japanese ports by United States warships armed with nuclear weapons. All week long, the country's mass circulation dailies and the six national television networks have been having for

In fact, the truth does not seem hard to find. Most observers here believe that visiting U.S. warhsips have kept their nuclear weapons on board as a matter of routine. It would simply be too inconvenient to do otherwise. The row hegan when Edwin Reischauer, who was U.S. ambarrado: in Tokyo from 1961 to 1966, was interviewed at his home near Boston by Yoshihisa Komori, a correspondent for Mainichi Shimun Japan's third largest daily. Reischauer told him that American warships had carried nuclear weapons into Japanese ports for 20

The issue is whether successive Japanese leaders have wilfully countenanced this violation of the nation's three-point non-nuclear policy, which forhids the production, possession and introduction of any form of nuclear weaponry. The U.S.-Japane mutual security treaty bars the deployment of U. nuclear weapons in Japanese territory without of suitation - but what does "deployment" meas

U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield speaks of the United States "honoring its commitments" but has not specifically denied that American ships will nuclear weapons have used Japanese ports. Pro-Minister Suzuki has talked loftily about a "related ship of mutual trust" and of his determination not change the policy of consultation. That still leave the Japanese public guessing.

Reischauer enjoys enormous prestige here: Harvard professor noted for his academic popular writing on Japan, he souched on some the nation's deepest sensitivities when he accuse Japanese leaders of lying in their consistent deals that U.S. warships with nuclear warheads had the right to come to Japan under a verbal agreent that accompanied the signing of the revised U.S. Japan security treaty in 1960.

Television networks featured 1960 newschips the then Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi smili and chatting with U.S. diplomats at ceremonies 50 rounding the signing of the treaty, the target before its conclusion of the worst anti-American riots ever staged here.

Despite Reischauer's allegation that the Japan ese government "simply recognize the fact Japan's chief cabinet secretary, Klichi Miyazaw said that he had never heard of a "verbal age ment' to a U.S. right of transit for vessels we nucclear weapons aboard. To many Japanese, however, Reischauer's remarks confirm the longsuspicion of a secret agreement whereby Japane leaders have winked at the presence of nucle weapons on U.S. warships provided they we never placed on shore.

The sensation in part reflects Japan's "nuclei allergy," a legacy of the atom-bombing Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the closing days World War II.

A leading Japanese writer Minoru Oda, a profi sor at Tokyo University, last week accused the Usof having "forced Japan to betray in own people and attacked Reischauer for having waited to lot to reveal "the truth." Ods described the revelation as "diagusting." (ONS)

The Kingdom's newspapers Wednesday led with the statement issued at the concluding session of the Gulf Summit Conference in Abu Dhahi. They highlighted the announcement on the formal establishment of the Gulf Cooperation Council and King Khaled's reaffirmation that the GCC will serve the interests of the peoples of the region and also of the peoples of the entire Arab nation. The statement declared support for Syria, Lebanon, and the people of Palestine and refused to accept any foreign intervention in the region, especially the presence of foreign military bases and fleets in the Gulf Arab Newspapers frontpaged the decision of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to maintain the current level of oil prices. They also gave front-page prominence to Jordanian King Hussein's visit to Moscow, where he is reportedly discussing the explosive situation in the Middle East with the Kremlin leaders. In a page one story, Al Riyadh quited French President Francois Mitterrand as telling PLO chairman Yasser Arafat that France supports peace based on "mutual Newspaper editorial exclusively discussed the Gulf Summit Conference and the Gulf Cooperation Council. Dealing with the Conference's concluding statement Tuesday, Al Medina said the statement sums up the broad features of the policy to be followed by the Gulf Arah states in domestic as well as foreign matters. The paper highlighted the statement's stress on the Council's Arah and hased on the charters of the League and the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC). The paper expressed the confidence that the statement will bolster Arah and Islamic activity, guiding it toward new horizons and giving more strength to the stances of the GCC states.

Al Riyadh said that the meeting of six Arah Gulf leaders in Abu Dhabi cannot be considered a small event in the present pobtical situation. In fact, their meeting will tend to give a special protection to this sensitive region of the world. The paper said the people of the region have not based their hopes and aspirations on empty dreams, but know for sure that they are taking strong steps to safeguard the region from alien ideologies. As history repeats itself, a time will come when it will speak about the significance of this great event, the paper added.

Al Yom also described the conference as an "historic event' which reflects the hopes and aspirations of the leaders and peoples of the Gulf region for a united strategy in different fields. The paper said the formation of the GCC is in itself a big step and an historic turn in Arah relations. It added that the strength of the Gulf is strength for all Arabs and Muslims and this new kind of cooperation will enhance the activity of the GCC states inside the

that the "historic event" of Abu Dhabi will provide Islamic nature and said that its activities will be a turning point in the life of the Gulf people, and the grand success achieved in the conference will boost the region's role in the consolidation of peace and security. It added that the people of the Gulf are aware of the significance of that unity which is the fundamental characteristic prevailing among the leaders and peoples of the region.

Al Nadwa noted in an editorial that the concluding statement of the conference was clear and frank in expressing the hopes and aspirations of the peoples of the region. The leaders of the region have already reaffirmed their firm stance on foreign ambitions and reiterated that they are ready to cooperate on an equal level. The paper added that the outcome of the conference opens a new page that speaks of the Gulf capability of boosting development and stability in the Gulf region.

Meanwhile, Okaz concentrated on King Khaled's address to the Gulf Summit Conference in which he reaffirmed that the GCC has been established to serve the interest of the peoples of the region, as well as of the peoples of the whole Arab nation. It said that the King's address made it clear that the GCC has been established for the welfare of all. The paper added that the six Arah states of the Gulf are against making "blocs" and "alliances", as they are keen to adhere to an impartial attitude which would not be possible without an independent will and

The American way

Advancing the frontiers of knowledge

By Jay Mathews

PASADENA, Calif. (WP) — They are still atching some bullet holes, but the fires have een extinguished and the floodwaters rained. The California Institute of technology has survived another annual spring rite, ansforming the ordinary college prank by uantum leaps into a proving ground for merican creativity. To advance the froners of knowledge, some of America's finest oung scientific minds surprised their eachers and administrators last week with the following:

— A dormitory room filled with water, plus wo undergraduates floating and shivering as reywaited, honor-bound, for an hour before ttempting to retrive a reward hidden in the nurky depths.

— A room door blown off its hinges by a hemical reaction gone awry, igniting a garage can full of combustible material and orcing emergency fire measures.

A ruse of questionable legality which led round controllers to call back a light plane earing a Cal. Tech senior attempting a darig escape from his undergraduate pursuers. This surprise attack on university decorum, osting over the years thousands of dullars in damage and and untold of class time, happens every May on this grassy, tree-lined campus. Seniors suddenly disappear, the remaining undergraduates try in the most bizarre fashion to break into their rooms and university administrators see it all as a possible key to the unquestioned superiority of American technology:

"It is a lot like science is," said Cal. Tech.
News Bureau Director Dennis Meredith.
"The problems are going to come out of the blue and off the wall. They are going to have to know how to improvise." Americans like to think of scientists as eccentric, so Cal. Tech. has embraced the idea with a vengeance and created a tradition of pranksterism going back decades. Some of the most bizarre have already become cliches. During one year's version of "senior ditch day," which is what the students call the annual spring event, some undergraduates broke into a senior's room and were dissatisfied with the food that had been left for them. They disassembled the seruor's porsche, which he had unwisely left in the parking lot. When he returned in the evening he found the car reassembled - in his room, with the motor running. The stunt has been repeated so often it now is considered passe.

Cal. Tech's history of pranks isn't confined to the month of May. Budding nuclear physicists here reminisce about the great rose bowl hoax, in which Cal. Tech commandos switched 2,300 card stunt instructions to be used by the University of Washington cheering section at halftime. The Washington director watched against as his signal to spell out "Washington" instead produced the huge letters for "Cal. Tech."

Freshman Scott Gordon, a long-haired biochemistry major, sees pranks as a way to relieve some of the pressures of study at one of the most competitive and distinguished scientific institutions in the world. Studying at Cal. Tech., he said, "is sometimes like trying to drink from a fire hose."

Under the rules, mostly unwritten, seniors secretly pick a day in May and must be off campus by 8 a.m. or risk being chained to a tree, as one reportedly was Monday. They leave behind "stacks," intricate locks and puzzles which must be solved before their rooms can be entered.

Monday's "stacks" included computer programs, .28-caliber bullets to be fired through preselected holes, the mixing of certain chemicals (which misfired) and dozens of others. Many involved searches for clues hidden throughout the university.

One year a clue was wedged in a crack in the exterior wall five stories up on the outside of the nine-story Milliken Library. The dean of student affairs could be seen praying as an intrepid undergraduate rappelled down the side of the building to retrieve the piece of paper.

Cooling clothes developed

By a Science Correspondent

LONDON, — A new type of garment that will keep high pressure, beat exposed workers cool, has been developed by American engineers. In closed industrial environments where high temperatures and humidity prevail, fatigue and heat stress frequently fell crewmen and workers.

Now, researchers at the U.S. Army Natick R & D Command in Natick Massachusetts, believe that Liquid Cooled Garments (LCG) can ease the problem that before could not even be alleviated by air-cooling systems. The garment uses a cooling agent that provides conducive cooling to the torso, neck and head — areas that proved most reponsive in reducing heat stress.

It is made of a new lightweight material which has liquid flow channels for the cooling agent built into its entire surface. The material is flexible and conforms easily to the body for easy movement. Because of its thin and pliant construction, the LCG can be worn with standard clothing, helmets and equip-

To operate the LCG, the wearer needs a portable heat exchanger outside the closed environment or a central console unit inside the enclosure. He then connects to the Liquid Microclimate Control Cooling Unit and starts the fluid pumping and circulating through the garment's channels.

Tunnel found in Spanish workshop

BARCELONA, Spain, May 27 (AP) — Police said Wednesday a turnel discovered here appeared to be part of a plot to kill King Juan Carlos when he presides at a military parade Sunday. The tunnel, nine feet deep, three feet wide and 4.5 feet long, was discovered Tuesday night in a ground floor workshop that Jose Maria Cuevas, the only gunman killed in the weekend seizure of a bank here, rented a month ago, the civil governor's office said.

The tunnel runs 40 yards along the route to be followed by the king when he drives to the grandstand to preside at the parade, which climaxes a week of celebrations in homage to the armed forces. The discovery of the tunnel, police sources said, followed questioning of the nine gunmen arrested by anti-terrorist commandos who stormed the bank Sunday to free the last of more than 200 hostages held in the hank for 37 hours.

Political sources said discovery of the tunnel was the clearest evidence that the bank seizure was part of a plot against the newly-born Spanish democracy three months after an abortive right-wing military

U.S. prison riot quelled

JACKSON, Michigan, May 27 (AP) — Up to 1,000 inmates, many armed with makeshift clubs, rioted for 9 1/2 hours Tuesday at the southern Michigan prison, taking over a cellblock and setting fire to prefabricated dor-

The riot, the second in five days at the world's largest walled prison, was quelled by several hundred state police and prison guards wearing gas masks and armed with rifles who moved into the exercise yard to herd prisoners into cellblocks. No fatalities were reported, and authorities said no hostages were taken.

About an hour after the Jackson riot was over, between 150 and 200 prisoners were involved in a disturbance at Marquette state prison in Michigan's upper peninsula about 680 kms to the north. Officials said the inmates set three fires, still hurning two hours later, and were refusing to return to their cells,

Paul Manard, assistant to the warden at Marquette, said; "We only can speculate it (the disturbance) stems from the general unrest that has been prevalent" at Jackson.

Most of the 1,000 inmates milling around the yard at Jackson moved toward cells, some running, when officials using bullhorns warned that the officers - about 165 troopers and an estimated 200 guards - were about to move in about 7:15 p.m. local time. "It's all over now, we're just cleaning up," prison housing unit supervisor Roger Dickin-sen said. At about noon the inmates took control of a medium-security area on the north side of the prison, outside the walls but surrounded by a harbed-wire fence.

William Kime, deputy director of the state correcting department, said the troopers and guards herded the inmates into two cellblocks to be searched and put into already overcrowded cells.

The latest riot hegan with a fight between inmates of the maximum-security cellblocks and the medium-security prefabricated units, officials said. The prisoners, many carrying makeshift clubs, then began setting fires and milling through the yard.

"The arsonists got the jump. We had a real holocaust on our hands," said deputy warden

At least 21 persons were injured. Two prisoners, one guard and one firefighter were hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation. Seven inmates, seven guards, two firefighters and one police officer were treated and released, a hospital official said.

UNITED NATIONS, May 27 (AP) -U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has heen reported preparing to sound out 142 countries on whether they want to attend an international conference on getting foreign troops out of Camhodia that he expects to call here for around July 13.

A diplomat informed on the matter said there was an understanding that the conference should be open to all the 142 countries that voted on a resolution the assembly adopted last Oct. 22 calling for such a conference, including the 22 abstaining and the 23 against as well as the 97 for the resolution.

He said delegates from Thailand. Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia and the Philippines, promoting the conference, dis-cussed with Waldheim Tuesday he particular manner in which he should approach the 142 countries hut came to no conclusion and agreed to return to the question later. The diplomat declined to go into detail on the alternatives that were considered.

The manner of approach conceivably could make a difference in whether particular countries agreed to attend the conference and so affect its attendance and, with that, its length.

OPEC price freeze triumph for Yamani

GENEVA, May 27 (R) — In its drive to stabilize the world price of oil, Saudi Arabia secured an OPEC price freeze while refusing demands et an OPEC meeting that it act now to stop flooding the market with its cut-price

Ten of the 13 members of OPEC — the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries - decided to cut production by at least 10 percent from June 1.

The goal is to reduce a glut which the Kingdom's minister of Petroleum and Mineral Resources Sheikh Ahmad Zaki Yamani has said he engineered in a bid to compel oil price stability. The three which did not join the eutbacks were Iraq and Iran, trying to boost war-restricted oil sales, and the Kingdom, by far the biggest exporters. Some ministers told reporters Saudi Arabia could be expected to reduce their outout soon, certainly before the

The glut makes it impossible for all but the Kingdom to raise prices and the meeting decided to freeze them until December. Some members wanted the Kingdom to join the 10 percent cut and also add at least two dollars to its $32 price. OPEC's lowest, to help defend the market share of other exporters and accommodate revived Iraqi and Iranian sales.

OPEC bad been moving toward a compromise agreement earlier Tuesday that would bave called for a $2 hike by the Kingdom and price freeze by all other members, three oil ministers said. At the last minute; however, Sheikh Yamani said he would not raise this price unless OPEC lowered its price ceiling from $41 to $39 a barrel, conference

That would have forced OPECs three bighest priced members Algeria, Libya and Nigeria to lower their prices by betweeo $2 and $3 a barrel. When the three countries refused to lower their prices — a move without precedent in OPEC's 20-year history — Yamani said be would not raise Saudi Arabian oil price at this meeting, coofereoce

The OPEC average is just over $35 with the top price of $41 charged by price militant Libya for its best-quality crude. Libyan Minister Abdusalaam Zagaar, who has said the glut may deter some of his customers, stated that he thought the Kingdom would put up its price and trim if huge output of around 10 million barrels per day (BPD) at a time nearer to OPEC's next price-setting session in Ahu Dhabi December 10.

An official communique issued after the meeting said that the decision to maintaio present prices had been taken because of the market situation. It said the majority of OPEC members agreed to cut production.

The Saudi Arabian deputy oil minister told reporters this decision did not apply to his country. "Saudi Arabia never discusses production in OPEC," he said.

The minister of Libya, another top-price country, told reporters the meeting had not failed although it was not a complete success. He said it was his understanding that the Kingdom effect promised to raise its price and cut production "toward the next conference" at Abu Dbabi December 10.

The OPEC decision with possibly the most-far-reaching consequences was one to revise a Saudi Arabian-backed long-term price strategy. Sheikh Yamani wants this to help stabilize world economies by indexing OPEC prices with inflation, the West's economic growth rates and currency fluctua-

A six-member committee chaired by Sbeikb Yamani will meet bere Wednesday to start updating a draft. If it can complete its work in time, all 13 ministers could meet in extraordinary session to try to agree on it ahead of the December pricing meeting in

The strategy eovisaged annual increases of two to three perceot in real terms. But some experts consider OPEC will have to set prices with caution to avoid forcing consumers into a switch to alternative energy too rapid for its own good. Demand for oil fell 7.5 percent in 1980 and is down further this year, making it possible for Saudi Arabia to engineer the glut. OPEC, output is down to 24 million BPD from 31 millioo in 1979 and the cutbacks decided Tuesday should reduced it by 1.4 million BPD more, unless Iraq and Iran come up strongly.

as possible and has signed a contract for a minimum 25 million tons in the next five years, Hazen Argue, minister in charge of the Canadian Wheat Commission, said.

The agreement marks a return to the type of long-term contract that was last in effect between the two countries in 1969. After the next harvest, the deliveries will involve four million tons of wheat and barley, increasing by 500,000 tons a year to six million tons in 1985, Argue said Tuesday.

Moscow had told Canada that it was ready to buy extra quantities during good harvest years, Argue said. The low figure of four million tons for this year was in line with the current low stocks in Canada and the uncertain situation caused by western Canada

After Soviet troops moved into Afghanistan in December 1979, then-prime minister Joe Clark's government limited sales to 3,800,000 tons for the year ending last July

He said the Taipei government bas made a special effort to increase American imports into Taiwan.

The types of goods to be traded was not listed. Hayakawa could oot be reached for specifics Tuesday night.

U.S. economy bounces back

WASHINGTON, May 27 (R) — Less than four months after President Ronald Reagan warned Americans that the United States was on the brink of economic disaster the U.S. economy is showing surprising signs of strength. In February, Reagan said his program of sweeping tax and budget cuts was decessary because the country was mired in the worst economic mess since the Great Depression and was threatened with an economic calamity of tremendous proportions.

His budget director, David Stockman, went further and at one point advocated a national emergency to what he saw as an impending 'economic donm'; but far from collapsing, the economy has shown a vitality that has defeated traditional economic theory.

During the first three months of 1981 it has shown an annual rate of 8.4 percent, its best performance in almost three years. At the same time, inflation eased considerably to an annual rate of only 5.1 percent in April.

The unexpected improvement in the economy has occured despite a number of discouraging factors, many of which formed the foundation of the administration's earlier predictions of imminent collapse.

interest rates have been rising at oppressive levels since late last autumn. The car, housing and savings industries have been suffering.

All the while the U.S. central bank, with constant prodding from the White House, has ateadily tried to restrict the growth of money and to curb inflation.

According to previous experience, these developments should have proved damaging enough collectively to drag the economy down or at least to a crawl.

Instead, the economy has flourished, bring-

Cashing in on glut Japan to stockpile oil

TOKYO, May 27 (R) — Japan, which has to import nearly all its energy needs plans to take advantage of the present glut on the world oil market to expand its stockpile of crude oil and oil products, officials said Wednesday.

The International Trade and Industry Ministry (MITI) officials said the plan is to boost the state stockpile, kept in land bases and on the high seas off Jima, to 65.9 million barrels during the current financial year, which started in April, from 47.2 million barrels

Japan also aims to triple the stockpile during the next few years to 188.7 million barrels, of which about 110 million barrels will be stored in land hases,

At present, Japan thas a total stockpile of 458.4 million barrels, enough for 147 days on the basis of fiscal 1980 consumption. This includes about 411 million barrels in private stockpiles.

Japan's official petroleum council Wednesday approved the stockpile plans and set an oil import target of 4.98 million barrels per day for fiscal 1981, a 1.9 percent increase over last year. But down 12.5 percent from the original estimate.

The council also formally lowered the fiscal 1985 import target to 5.7 million bpd from 6.3 million, which was set at the 1979 Tokyo summit meeting of seven leading industrial democracies.

U.K. staff to step up agitation

LONDON, May 27 (AP) — Britain's 530,000 civil servants Tuesday voted to step up their industrial action for more pay, but stopped short of calling an all-out strike.

The new moves will further upset air services into and out of Britain, and continue to disrupt tax and social security services, satellite tracking stations and customs points.

Two new areas to be hit by future sporadic stoppages will be the department of employment and Britain's Royal Ordnance Factories, which supply ammunition and equipment to the armed forces.

Announcing the decision, Bill Kendall, secretary of the council of civil service unions, said the unions had set a deadline of June 8 for the government to call new talks for breaking the deadlock or agreeing to arbitration.

If the deadline is not met, he warned, the government runs the risk of an all-out strike affecting the whole range of civil servants' work, including the holding up of social welfare payments to those on supplementary state benefits.

The civil servants are demanding a 15 percent pay rise, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has offered their nine unions seven percent. Action at Royal Ordnance Factories will begin next week, when 200 staff will stage a lightning stoppage, affecting arms supplies to the domestic market and overseas customers.

Three major communications centers tracking eastern block satellites and other signals are set to close after Wednesday evening's shift because of a walk-out by 200 staff. A spokesman for their union said the walkout would virtually "shut Britain off from international communications."

Financial Roundup Dollar breaks fresh ground

By J.H. Hammond
IEDDAH, May 27 — The dollar hroke new barriers against all major currencies in another hectic day in Europe Wednesday. The mark fell to a three year low against the dollar and the French franc similarly lost ground. The sterling and yen fell back sharply as the wave of dollars purchased by European investors continued unabated. Dealers attributed this in the concern about the political situation in Poland as well as the continuing Lebanese crisis. Dollar interest rates eased again for the second day running, hut rates quoted were artificially low due to the Friday starting dealing date and maturity dates.

Locally, rival deposit rates remained firm, but did not change much all Wednesday. Spot dollar and rival were lower, much more active and dealers reported large demand for dollars from the Kingdombased and Bahrain-based institutions. Gnld and silver continued to waver at the new lower platform price levels of $467 and $10.23 per ounce respectively by mid-day Wednesday.

The German mark came under continued pressure on European exchanges Wednesday, after closing at 2.3360 in New York. In Europe, the mark fell in levels of 2.3480 at one stage before recovering slightly to 2.3460 levels. However, market observers are now wondering whether the German central bank — the Bundesbank — is changing its policy of aggressive support for the mark by letting the dollar reach its peak and fall by itself as dealers take profit and sell the dollars precipitating a sharp fall. Having broken through the 2.30 level against the mark and remained there for the last week, if the dollar will breach the 2.35 level.

The French franc, which seemed to have stabilized somewhat Tuesday, fell to 5.5760 levels Wednesday compared to 5.54 closing the market is now anxiously awaiting to see in New York. There was nothing new to affect the franc, but selling pressure developed against the European currencies which took the franc to these new levels, certainly, the dollars attractiveness at the moment is not due to increased interest rates. Quite the contrary, dollar deposit rates have been easing for the second day running and one-munth Eurodollar deposit rate was qunted at 17 11/16-17 13/16 from London. This almost two percent (all in dollar deposit rates is deceptive for dealers were working on the basis of a Friday dealing date which artifically depresses prices. Federal Funds rates, or "Fed Funds" fell to 17% percent Tuesday night from previous levels of 181/2 percent.

On other currency news, sterling, fell to 2.0620 levels in London before some moderate dollar sellings in sterling support by the Bank of England. British statistics now revealed that a 0.6 percent drop in national income took place in the first quarter of 1981. Similarly, the Swiss franc lost all precious gains in the dollar, falling in 2.0780

The yen had the sharpest fall for a long time, quoted at 225 levels at one stage, before stabilizing at 224.50 in London. It closed in New York at 225.55 levels, a fall nf three yen over Tuesday prices.

Locally, riyal deposit rates remained firm, but unchanged according to local dealers. In "lethargic" dealing, one-month JIBOR rate closed at 16 4 — 16 4 percent levels, while one-year riyal deposit rate reached 15 ½ — 16 percent, Riyals liquidity was available in the market, but again concentrated in shart dates. By comparison, the local exchange market saw some spirited transaction which took the normally "average" spnt riyal exchange rate from 3.3880-90 to high levels of 3.39 20-30 Dealers reported a surge of demand for dollars from both Bahrain and local markets.

Longhorns make final By Cynthia Shanley

Houston Bureau
HOUSTON, May 27 — A 10-2 victory for the Texas Longhorns over hard-hitting Stanford put Texas into the final in the College Basehall World Series. Stanford forced Texas into a doubleheader by defeating the Longhorns 9-8 with a last-inning run in the first game on Monday.

Texas pitcher Tony Arnold, who ran his season record to 17-0, was in command through the first eight innings of the second game as he held the Cardinals to three hits until the ninth. Stanford hunched three hits for two runs in the final inning, before Arnold, finishing his 13th complete game of the year, struck out pinch hitter Steve Buechele for the final out.

Texas, 58-9-1, scored two runs on three hits in the second inning to open its 16-hit attack on three Stanford pitchers. The Southwest Conference champs added the only other run Arnuld needed on a Larry Long sacrifice fly in the third. Long Nakajima, currently ranked No. 8 in the WBC flyweight standings, succumbed to a barrage of hooks to the body from local flyweight Nohuyuki Watanabe and was counted out at 3:08 in the eighth round.

Nakajima, 26, outpointed Korea's Kim Sung Jun in Tokyo in January, 1980 to become WBC junior flyweight champion but was dethroned by Hilario Zapata of Panama only two months later on points in Tokyo in his first title defense. Zapata knocked out Nakajima in the 11th round in a return match

The court had been invaded by television crews, photographers and the public after Nastase's victory and the committee had considered that there were mitigating circumstances for Teltscher's behavior.

The American player "layed hands" on match referee Patrick Flodrops of France as he was pushing through the melee to the dressing-rooms.

"It is quite unacceptable for a professional ose his self-control in this way." said Chatrier, who added: "And the penalty would have been far more severe if there had not been the mitigating circumstances of the crowd invasioo of the court."

that was the end of the party. Declarer won the trump return, played another trump discarded . the jack of diamonds from dummy on the queen of spades, and so made the rest of the tricks. West should have led a low spade et trick two, not the ace.

Consider this deal, where

West got off on the right foot when he led the king of spades. East played the deuce, but it was easy for West to read from the bidding that the deuce was e singleton.

So West continued with the ace and another spade, which was ruffed by East. However,

By doing so he would have maintained partial control over spades, instead of relinquishing all control by cashing the ace. Even without study ing the matter deeply. West could have realized that it must be better for the defenders to get a spade ruff and remain in control than to get a spade ruff and give up control.

East would have ruffed the low spade return et trick two and presumably would have returned e diamond, thus putting an end to declarer's hopes. On the suggested line of play, East-West would have scored the A-K of spades, a spade ruff and a high diamond to put the contract down one.

olish hunger strike spreads

WARSAW, May 27 (Agencies) — Six more men were expected Wednesday to join eight persons on a spreading hunger strike aimed at winning the release of "political prisoners", a Solidarity spokesman said.

Three men in southern Poland Tuesday joined five workers currently on the eighth day of a hunger strike in an office of the independent union Solidarity at Sosnowiece, near the coal and steel center of Katowice, the spokeswoman Teresa Baranowska said.

A parliamentary commission was expected to meet Saturday to review the cases of several detainees whose release is sought by the hunger strikers and student and Solidarity organizers of nadonwide protest marches

The original five hunger strikers have vowed to cononue their fast until the release of five members of the "confederation of independent Poland' (KPN) and two

Japan groups demand barring U.S. ship entry

TOKYO, May 27 (AP) — Japan's nuclear weapons controversy escalated Wednesday as Communist politicians demanded that the U.S. carrier Midway be harred from its home port near Tokyo and the local mayor called the flattop's return from a 2 1/2 month cruise "mappropriate" at this time.

The Japan Communist Party, a small but vocal minority in the Diet (parliament), said a port call by the 51,000-ton carrier should he called off until it is established that it has no nuclear weapons aboard. For months, the party has claimed to have proof that such armameots exist on American warships and bases in Japan.

Kazuo Yokoyama, mayor of Yokosuka, a city of 424,600 adjoining the headquarters hase of the U.S. 7th Fleet, 56kms south of Tokyo, told a meeting of municipal officials he could not refuse entry to the Midway, but "it is fitting that the American military show consideration at a time wheo city residents have worries and doubts over the ouclear issue."

"I do not want to risk damaging relatioos that have been so good," Yokoyama said.
"It's not just a question of the Midway coming into port. The families of the sailors and city residents are living here together."

He said he was not asking that the Midway stay out of Yokosuka indefinitely, especially considering the time it has been away. "I sympathize with the families' awaiting the return of the men ahoard," he said. There are 9.346 U.S. Navy and Marine Corps personnel and about 4,800 dependents living on and near the base.

Soviets flay Schmidt stand

MOSCOW, May 27 (Agencies) - The Soviet news agency Tass charged Wednesday that Chancellor Hebuut Schmidt's statement to the West German parliament on his recent visit to Washington was "devoid of constructive spirit."

"Seen in the statement is the chancellor's obvious desire to lend a positive key to his negative stant. Though if one is to look at the substance of this stand, it boils down to speeding up NATO's military preparations," Tass

Ms. Baranowska said the protest hy six new strikers would hegin Wednesday night at the medical academy in Gdansk to demand the release of so-called political prisoners in accord with agreements that ended widespread strikers there last August and launched the independent union.

Among those planning to join the hunger strike are Andrzej Kolodziej, a top official in the Gdansk Solidarity chapter, and Dariusz Kobzdej, head of the Solidarity-sponsored "Nadonal Committee for Political Prisoners," Ms. Baranowska said.

The government contends the KPN members are rightists and has charged them with anti-state activities. State television said in a lengthy program Sunday the Brothers Jerzy and Ryszyrd Kowalczyk, who destroyed a school huilding with a homb, are not political prisoners.

In UDA office raid

Belfast police capture arms

BELFAST, May 27 (Agencies) - Police raided the east Belfast headquarters of the Protestant paramilitary Ulster Defense Association overlight luesday and arms and ammunition including six homebuilt Sterling submachine guns.

The raid followed the capture of a Soviet RPG-7 rocket launcher from rival Irish Republican Army guerrillas on the opposite side of Belfast hours earlier.

The Royal Ulster Constabulary Police Force, whose members are mostly Protestants, has come under sharp cirticism from Catholics for directing most of its attention at the Catholic community. Critics have called for a more even-handed policy in comhating Ulster's violent men.

The raid on UDA headquarters was the first conducted there since violence erupted in the British province following the death of jailed IRA guerrilla Bohhy Sands and three other hunger strikers at the Maze prison near

The UDA, which claims 15,000 active members, is a legal organization but its members are oot allowed to keep arms. Other Protestant paramilitary groups such as the Ulster Volunteer Force, Ulster Freedom Fighters and Red Hand Commando were outlawed during the 1970s, along with the mostly Catholie IRA's militant "Provisional" wing and the Irish National Liberation Army.

The UDA headquarters hailding was raided in the small hours of the night and a police spokesman said in addition to the six Sterling 9mm submachine guns, a Thompson submachine gun, one .45 revolver and 550 assorted rounds of ammunition were seized.

UDA chief Andy Tyric and two other persons were arrested and later released, a spokesman for the organization said.

Meanwhile, supporters of the IRA militants on hunger strike in the Maze prison were deciding whether to put up candidates in the forthcoming Irish general election. Delegates of the H block committee, including Gerry Adams, vice chairman of the provisional Sinn Fein, and former Westminster MP Bernadette Devlin McAliskey met Tuesday night at Castle Bellingham, just south of the border, to plan tactics.

Good Morning By Jihad Al Khazen

Dame rumor, as everyone knows, is no lady. Imagine how much worse it would have been when President Ronald Reagan was shot, had the press and television not been there to give an exact, bullet hy bul-let account of what happened. The thing was had enough, of course. But had it been left to hearsay, the incident would have been distorted out of all recognizable proportion, with "eyewitnesses swearing they saw Russian paratroopers behaving suspiciously on and around the scene of the crime, or even little green men directing operations from a flying saucer. Dame rumor is no lady because she feeds, literally, on onthing.

The other day, I read in The Washington
Post a report of how a rumor of this type can grow and take over. A lady living in Washington somewhere around Capitol Hill witnessed an accident in the street. She was lonking out of her window. The time was late at night. She was publicspirited enough to rush out to help. In the confusion on the scene of the accident, she thought she heard a policeman say that Vice President Bush was involved, that indeed he had been shot. There was no basis in truth for this whatsoever. Bush was seen going about his husiness in Washington, But nobody was fonled. Bush might not know it, he he has been shot. So what on earth was he doing gallivanting around like this. Finally Bush was angered by the coostant stream of questions on how it feels to be shot, and how come he wasn't taking a rest or at least making some very hrave jokes, that the actually called in the FBI to question him on the matter, so that it is finally settled.

Reagan prefers

volunteer military WEST POINT, New York, May 27 (AP)

-President Ronald Reagan Wednesday told the nation's oewest army officers - "the keepers of the peace" - that they should get nore money for their work At the same time, Reagan, in his first presidential speech on military issues, made clear his preference for a volunteer military rather than a return to the draft. In a speech spiced with quotations from generals, Reagan told the 1981 graduates of the U.S. Military Academy that "those who guarantee our safety ... deserve hetter than a bare subsistance level of pay."

During the campaign, Reagan opposed a return to the military draft, abandoned in 1973, bothe has made few comments about it since he was inaugurated. Without directly stating his oppositioo Wednesday, he said: "I believe there is another way, one more in keeping with our system of rewarding those who work and serve, on a scale commensurate with what we ask of them."

He said he has asked Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to form a task force to study "the entire military manpower question and make proposals" to increase the: effectiveness of the volunteer forces.

Reagan quoted the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who addressed West Point alumni and cadets and told them that "so long" as hreath remains in his body he would hear: the words 'duty, honor, country.'

Leftist measures under study

Mauroy holds first cabinet meeting PARIS, May 27 (AFP) - France's first

Socialist government in 24 years Wednesday held its first meeting in the ornate Elysee Palace here and took its initial steps toward steering the country on a new leftward course.

"We have a great historic task to carry out," President Francois Mitterrand told the 42 ministers and secretaries of state crowded around an oval table. "Let us be worthy of France.

The five-day old government of Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy quickly took preliminary action on a series of measures to raise the minimum wage, reduce the retirement age from 65 to 60 and boost allowances for families, the aged, handicapped and homeowners.

Most of the moves will be announced June 3 and June 10, just before the crucial legislaove elections in which the Socialists hope to wrench a governing majority from their center-right rivals.

Mitterrand, who defeated Valery Giscard d Estaing in the May 10 presidential election to end nearly a quarter century of conservative rule, recognized the leftist victory will not he complete without success in the legislaove contests. "The action hegun today must he long term

NEW DELHI, May 27 (AFP) - Over 40 persons were injured, some of them seri-ously, when Kashmir police used batons and teargas to disperse violent demonstrators at the border township of Shopian Wenesday.

The incidents took place during a one-day general strike organized in the township by the local population demanding a change in the administrative setup, Press Trust of India news agency reported. Demonstrators hurled stones at police during the incidents, have filed for hankruptcy and for a report by the autumn on "the new rights of workers." With an army of journalists and photographers on hand to chronicle the arrival of a new era in Freoch poliocs, Mauroy pledged that the watchwords of the new government will he "simplicity, economy and discretion." But not all was rosy among the 36 men and six women in the first Socialist government since the administration of Guy Mollet that ruled briefly in 1956-57 under the old fourth Frech Republic. "Six women," grumbled Yvette Roudy, minister for the rights of women, "that is not enough." Meanwhile, new Justice Minister Maurice Faure said in an interview published Wednesday that he will ask prosecutors not to seek the death penalty in the future while waiting for parliament to deal with the issue.

In another interview on television Tuesday night. Faure said the government will propose to parliament the abolition of the death
